

good food

we all love to eat...

Good food is also an important aspect of all Auswalks. Meals are plentiful, nutritious wholesome and often with local ingredients or specialties. They range from a la carte dining through to limited choice or set menus in remote locations.

Most meals are included. When meals are not included there are always cafés or restaurants nearby for you to dine at. Cooked and/or continental breakfasts are provided. Picnic lunches are provided on full walking days and are packed in an insulated carrier bag, ensuring they remain fresh and cool. In the evening you will sit down to a delicious dinner. For variety, we try to include one or two free nights when you can dine independently. On group guided trips you'll sometimes enjoy an el fresco buffet picnic or BBQ lunch. Evening meals usually consist of limited choice menus so we can get fed quickly. On inn-to-inn trips you may dine in a restaurant on some nights and you may share country style dinners with your hosts on other nights.

We can cater for special diets, but you must advise us when you book. On group guided trips when we stay at lighthouses we are unable to cater for very restrictive diets.
